Lledr Hall 2020

Dear Parents/Carers

I am writing to you in light of the recent developments concerning coronavirus and having been in contact with Lledr Hall.

It is business as usual at Lledr Hall and they are following the Government's guidelines. They are taking all precautions that they can and are closely monitoring the situation, as we also continue to do so in school. Should anything change they will be on touch with myself and we will then take the necessary steps to rearrange the trip for a future date.

If you elect to withdraw your child from the trip, despite their being no government advice against travel to places within the UK, then unfortunately you will forfeit the price of the residential.

We would appreciate you monitoring your child and not sending them on the residential if they have been unwell the weekend prior to the trip.

In short, as it currently stands, the trip will proceed unless the government advice changes between now and our departure.

If there are any updates then I will, of course, let you know.

Yours sincerely

Mrs A Cartwright
Acting Headteacher
